AKERHD: I bought this when I first heard it, I tried the trial and was really impressed and thought its worth a try. It was a well polished game with good AI. After I paid I never played it again but I still enjoy playing it because it felt like a new experience for a RPG. It takes a while to get used to the equipment system but once you do it's a lot of fun. It also seems to be popular and its getting better all the time. It has its fair share of bugs but nothing major. — Ayo, the Word Forge: It is a new RPG which the whole world seems to be talking about. People just can't seem to resist this game. The game has a great story, which intertwines you with the main character's decisions, how you play, what you equip, and so on. The world map e. For example, I, as a level 30, was able to explore almost the whole Kvaldsviden region. I could even get past the magical Xarda to enter the Forbidden Library, which I had no idea existed before. The game is beautiful with colorful graphics and a beautiful story. The enemy's AI is also decent for an MMORPG. They would chase, attack you, and flee if you were not carefully. — Chaos Reigns: I originally tried to get this game earlier but found it wasn't available on Steam, so I held off. Lately, they have been having issues with Steam not showing up right in the Steam program... There's this huge video on the front page of GameSpot but I decided to wait until I actually played the game to make an official review on GameSpot. ayed the game, which I was eager to play and bought it immediately without playing it, it is that good. My character was able to fight the enemies first in the simple game mode, which is great for those who want to get a feel for the game. There were many things that I wanted to learn more about the game's mechanics and story but, I had no idea where to start. ory is unique. I was quite surprised, and I love it! There's a wide variety of races. I'm a Human, though I wanted to be a Dwarven Dwarf. But I ended up being a Dragon Mage. I didn't have much of a choice bff6bb2d33
